Infinite Compassion

by: Gerald Sakamoto

I was listening to NPR Weekend Edition on Saturday as I drove to the office as I do usually. Scott Simon was interviewing two guests, author Myriam J. A. Chancy and songwriter Dar Williams. In the interview Williams said something that was really interesting, the opposite of division is not unity but collaboration. Her point, I think, was that when we collaborate we can work together and still be who we are. This does not require radical challenges to our world view but rather looks for and affirms common ground. She talked about how while she was working on a book she learned about small town mayors who were embracing changes and their towns were thriving. One of these mayors, in upstate New York, invited and welcomed Hmong immigrants into their community and thanked them for "choosing us". Dar Williams wrote a song about that town, "Little Town".

When we look at the world around us things can look scary, unfamiliar, uncomfortable. Because of that we might look to what is familiar, maybe not comfortable or less scary but maybe more manageable. When we consider; do we really need a béchamel sauce for Mac n Cheese? Shouldn't a macaroni and cheese recipe just be about macaroni and cheese? And nutmeg, who uses nutmeg in anything else but eggnog? If we can set aside our own likes and dislikes we may be able to go beyond the yellow and blue box and find a plethora of possibilities. The béchamel becomes a blank canvas to introduce combinations of cheese, gruyere, gouda, Parmesan, jalapeño cheddar, the possibilities are infinite. And seasonings like hot sauce or gochujang (maybe?) or shoyu for umami or miso. There are actually recipes for miso mac n cheese, and why not? Miso adds mild saltiness and umami.

When we set aside our preconceptions, plausible can become possible.

The mayor of the little town in upstate New York was able to see in Hmong immigrants the same kinds of concerns and joy and life that we all share. To welcome someone can be amazing. To welcome someone not because they look like us or speak like us or believe like us but simply because they are like us, that they are us.

In 2001 US Secretary of Transportation, Norman Mineta, grounded all US air traffic. Nearly 6,000 flights landed safely in two hours. With US air space closed international flights enroute were directed to airports outside US territory. Flights crossing the Atlantic were directed to Eastern Canada. Gander airport was where 38 of these planes with some 7,000 passengers landed. Gander's population at that time was around 9,000. At first the passengers stayed on the planes but as the hours passed they were able to disembark and it was the people of Gander that welcomed the passengers who had "Come from away". Twenty years later there is a book and a musical that celebrates those few days when, with kindness and compassion, strangers shared a common humanity.

History is replete with stories, examples of people acting with kindness and compassion. Sometimes a story like Gander's "Come From Away" is retold in a book and on stage. We celebrate these extraordinary examples of people embracing life. Their stories resonate in our lives because we too in our daily, everyday lives lift up when we are able the lives round us through empathy, kindness and compassion.

"Negative Capability"

by: Etsuko Mikame

It has been a while since the pandemic started. Many people might have already been used to this "new normal" life. However, we are still under an unpredictable situation and might still have fears and anxieties even if we are gradually coming back to the normal life which we used to have before the pandemic. It is still difficult to see the light at the end of the tunnel, so it is an exhausting situation for everyone.

I recently learned a new psychological term called "Negative capability" which is advocated by Dr. Housei Hahaki, who is an author and psychiatrist in Japan.

Dr. Hahaki explained the meaning of "Negative capability" and its necessity in our lives. He showed "Negative capability" as an ability to withstand situations where there is no answer and there is no way to deal with it and the ability to stay in uncertainty, wonder, and skepticism without rushing for proof or reason.

When problems occur in our work and daily lives, we are required to deal with them promptly and solve them, and efficiency and swiftness are always required in our world. However, this "negative capability" is the opposite of the ability required in society. Nevertheless, he dared to suggest that we should awaken to the ability to endure without avoiding that dangling state, which is illogical and cannot be decided in that way. I felt like he is telling us that we don't always have to ask a right answer right away, no rush, and leave it as it is if you have no idea.

We tend to think and judge things in a dual way: good or bad, right or wrong, like or dislike. However, we sometimes experience something which is beyond our judgment as to whether it is right or wrong, and what is happening in this world is actually something which is not easily answerable. People tend to be very anxious about leaving something which we don't know as they are. So, we try to figure it out, however, no matter how much developed the science and technology are, we cannot make everything crystal clear yet. There are still unclear, unknown, unidentified stuff all over the world and even in our lives.

We don't always need to know the answer clearly and just leave it if it is difficult to make it clear. The idea of "Negative capability" may give us ideas that make us calm and free from the stress of seeking the right answer right away.

This reminds me of one of the passages from Tannisho or "A Record in Lament of Divergences," which we know as the collected words of Shinran Shonin by one of his disciples. One day, Yuien-bo, who was one of the disciples, told Shinran Shonin about his worries. "Although I say the nembutsu, the feeling of dancing with joy is faint within me, and I have no thought of wanting to go to the Pure Land quickly. How should it be?" Then, Shinran Shonin just accepted his worry with his empathy and answered "I, too, have had this question, and the same thought occurs to you, Yuien-bo!" I would say this Shinran Shonin's response has something in common with the idea of "Negative capability" or the ability to accept ourselves in an uncertain situation. Shinran Shonin's kind response must have relaxed Yuien-bo and freed him from his frustration and given him peace of mind.

I believe everyone can have this "Negative capability" but unfortunately, we don't notice its importance because we are always living in the world where the opposite ability is always required. But as Dr. Hahaki told us, now might be the right time for us to try to use our "negative capability" even if things don't go well as we wished and we are in that dangling state due to the pandemic, so that we can accept and forgive ourselves as we are with peace of mind.

President's Message

by: Steve Onishi

Happy New Year! Actually, New Fiscal Year 2022! We've already had the New School Year 2021-2022! And Happy New Year 2022 is right around the corner. No wonder I get so confused! Yes, our fiscal year is November through October. All of the annual fiscal numbers for 2021 (Nov 2020 through Oct 2021) are being prepared and reviewed. This includes our membership numbers that are reported to the BCA annually. As I mentioned last month, please take a moment to review your own membership pledges. We have improved the options available to you to renew your membership. We hope that these changes will simplify the procedure for you!

It has been unfortunate that the pandemic has kept everyone away from the temple and surrounding grounds. Not only because of the loss of direct interpersonal contact, but you have missed watching the amazing transformation of the grounds surrounding the Hondo, office and front of the Dharma School building! A very dedicated group of volunteers has taken it upon themselves to improve and expand upon the Japanese gardens in those areas. They also added some wooden benches next to the entrance to the Hondo....perfect for waiting for the service to begin! This amazing group of volunteers was led by Stan Kawamata and included Dave Pascual, Ted Hashiguchi, Al Hironaga, Mike Mori and many of the Troop 611 Boy Scouts and leaders! This has been a huge project funded by donations and can/bottle recycling monies! A huge thanks to all (I hope that I have not left anyone off the list)!

Speaking of thanks....I would like to extend a huge thank you to Sally Idemoto. After 40 years of service to the Dharma, she is stepping down as the editor of our monthly newsletter. Through her tireless efforts, we have continued to receive the messages from our ministers and remained informed of the activities surrounding us here at the Betsuin.

So we continue to see change all around us...new landscaping, new Dharma newsletter, new fiscal year! It also appears that we are seeing some improvement in the pandemic situation with increased vaccinations, mask wearing and social distancing. We are starting to see some relaxation of the occupancy rules for the church. Things are definitely heading in the right direction, so let's not let our guard down now!

In Gassho,

Steve

My Last Dharma Editor's Message

by: Sally Idemoto

With the pandemic still with us, we are all having to find ways of going about our lives as normally as possible.

Sadly, things are changing and what we all knew as the Dharma newsletter....a printed newsletter mailed monthly to all of the temple members...will no longer be the case. With the pandemic, the process of creating a printed newsletter will not be happening. Instead, as has been the case for the last few months, the newsletter will be found on the Betsuin's website. You can find the ministers' messages, the president's message, the organization messages and the Betsuin's news online.

Many years ago, Phil Matsumura started the temple newsletter called The English Department News. Several years later I was asked by Phil to take over the newsletter as editor.

It was an enjoyable task each month to put together the newsletter along with the many staff members and helpers. But with this pandemic, things have changed to where we can no longer gather as before.

Along with all of the changes, I will no longer continue as editor of the Dharma newsletter. It has been almost 40 years since taking over from Phil.

So, with this final message, as editor, I want to thank everyone who has helped in some way in the process of putting together the newsletter and mailing them out all these many years.

It was an enjoyable time each month when the staff and volunteers would get together working on the newsletter and then having lunch after. It was a working and social time. I will miss those times as I am sure the staff members will as well.

Continue reading online to get your temple messages and news.

Wear your masks wherever needed, get your shots, and keep washing your hands.

Gratefully in gassho, Sally Idemoto

Organization Spotlight: Adult Buddhist Association

by: Dennis Akizuki

The Adult Buddhist Association has been contributing to the temple for nearly 70 years.

Famous these days for the wildly successful annual rummage sale, ABA (pronounced ah-bah) as it is known by many, started under a different name in 1953. The Nisei (second generation Japanese American) Buddhist Society was founded by former Junior Young Buddhist Association members and members of the Jr. Fujinkai (women's association) who combined to form one organization. Its name was changed to the Adult Buddhist Association in 1990, to recognize the fact that many Sansei (third generation Japanese Americans) had joined the group.

The preamble to the original NBS constitution said: "We pledge to perpetuate the teachings of the Buddha, to strengthen our personal faith, to develop leadership among Buddhist groups, and to cooperate in the promotion of mutual welfare of the Buddhist movement."

Over the years, ABA members have more than fulfilled the goals from that preamble. They have sponsored a retirement fund for ministers, published a book that outlined Buddhist funeral customs, helped lead the fundraising to construct the Annex building, financed new robes for ministers, and spearheaded the purchase of an organ for the temple.

The association has been active in major temple and community events such as Obon, church clean-up, the Yu-Ai Kai Keiro Kai and mochitsuki. ABA's own annual rummage sale is one of the most anticipated activities at the temple, bringing together a dizzying array of clothes, books, shoes, jewelry, kitchen ware and art work. Members also enjoy getting together for fun activities such as a post-Obon steak barbecue and joint outings with the Buddhist Women's Association.

ABA members have formed the backbone of the temple leadership. A number of them have become temple presidents and dozens have served on the Betsuin Board of Directors. -ABA members have also served as president of the Buddhist Churches of America. In 1969, three women from the organization blazed a new path for temple leadership when they became the first women on the Board.

Membership is open to anyone in the Sangha.

As ABA approaches its 70th anniversary, the organization is looking for new members to help continue their mission. One member says they will do "the best we can as our Issei and Nisei brothers and sisters did and do our best to carry the legacy they started to support the Betsuin and the Buddha Dharma."

Sangha members, please join us for our virtual BWA memorial service for Eshinniko / Kakushinni / Lady Yoshiko Ohtani / Late BWA Members on Sunday, November 14 at 10:10 am. Eshinniko was the wife of Jodo Shinshu founder, Shinran Shonin, and Kakushinni was his youngest daughter. Kakushinni cared for Shinran when he returned to Kyoto after his exile. With her mother's dedication and support, Kakushinni was able to establish the foundation of Jodo Shinshu. Lady Yoshiko Ohtani, grandmother of the current Gomonshu, revitalized the Buddhist Women's Associations by visiting many temples in Japan and overseas. She was the first to institute Japan-wide and worldwide conferences. We will also be remembering all of the wonderful ladies that we have lost this past year. Our special guest speaker is Michiko Miyaji Inanaga. She is director of development of the Buddhist Churches of America (BCA) Endowment Foundation and has been actively involved in leadership positions with the Orange County Buddhist Church. She says,"I was born into Buddhism, but find that its middle path is difficult, frustrating and also very illuminating."

An Eco Day in the Life of Harriet

First things first...laundry time: I use the biodegradable eco strip detergent (which comes in a paper container) to wash a load. Then off to the bathroom using the homemade toothpaste, mouthwash and deodorant. Of course my sustainable bamboo toothbrush and toilet paper are at the ready. Next it's time to wash my hair with my bar soap shampoo and use my homemade rinse. I use my pure zinc sunscreen in preparation for my walk to the Farmer's Market where I reuse my bags wash my dishes with a bar soap detergent. You may ask why is this crazy lady making all these products.....well...the main reason is that I do not want to buy things in plastic containers...and that's all folks.

It is November already!! Holiday time is upon us and hopefully we can gather safely indoors in the next 6 months or sooner. Thanks for continued support of completing fleece blankets. We delivered 52 blankets and 30 children and baby caps. Project Linus appreciates our excellent crafting. There are scarves and adult caps that will be delivered in November. Annually there is a group that donates double fleece blankets. They are beautifully done. Thank you so much!!!

Our next gathering in Temple parking lot is Friday Nov 5 at 11 a.m.. It is a chance for some socialization and exchange.

Volunteer Recognition 2020-2021

By Jeanne Nakano, submitted by EcoSangha

Do you know who does the recycling of cans and plastic bottles at the Betsuin? No surprise that Stan Kawamata, volunteer extraordinaire, quietly decided over 20 years ago to help our environment and the Temple by purchasing several sets of recycling stands that were placed throughout the campus. Recycling is done almost weekly and cash received is targeted for areas of need such as the recently, during the pandemic lockdown, the monies went toward purchasing supplies to beautify and increase safety for all of us to enjoy the Betsuin gardens and walkways, including two benches by the office and in front of the Hondo. All of you who placed your clean aluminum cans or plastic bottles in those recycle bins deserve applause for helping keep the rooms clean and helping with the recycle efforts. Hats off to Stan Kawamata for his proactive recycling efforts.

(see full article in January 2021 Dharma about the garden redo and update. Also in the same newsletter was a article about the committee who organized and executed a very heartfelt Keiro Kai for 2020)

A MODIFIED VOLUNTEER RECOGNITION PROGRAM 2020-2021

Nominations are open for the Volunteer Recognition program 2020-2021. Please nominate someone you think is deserving of recognition for work done during the 2020-2021 years. Because of the Covid restrictions, there will NOT be an actual service and program to honor and celebrate these volunteers. We will have an article in the Dharma to acknowledge these volunteers so the Sangha will be made aware of all the unselfish work done on the Betsuin's behalf.

Please include honoree's full name, a few short sentences about what the individual did, and for whom was this work done. Include your name and position in the organization, phone # in case I need to clarify anything before we go to print. You may send it to the office with ATTENTION: Volunteer Recognition on your envelope or just send me an email: terryoshi@yahoo.com

Another Thank You from Lotus Preschool!

by: Lynne Yamaichi

Thank you to Lexie Maag for thinking of Lotus Preschool for your Girl Scout Bronze Award project! Much care was needed for our playground fence decorations which were damaged from the rain and sun. These pieces of art are very special as they are from a Boy Scout Eagle Award project almost 20 years ago.

Lexie's project involved lots of sanding, determining the type of outdoor paint to use, how much paint to purchase, how to seal it and time management with all the colors that she used. Not planned, but Lexie also learned how to treat the termite infested pieces! Lexie was lucky to have her parent's guide her.

Lotus children and staff appreciate all of Lexie's hard work to brighten our playground art pieces with a new coat of paint, new colors, and new details!

Congratulations Lexie for achieving your Girl Scout Bronze Award!

And, Arigatou Gozaimasu from all of us at Lotus!

No task is too big when done together by all." ('Olelo no 'eau-Hawaiian Proverbs)

Fall! – Is there Fall in the tropics?

The seas change, the cycle of the moon is different, so the weather must change. I need to ask people from Hawai'i– the Hawai'i that is now-and see what they say. Hey! Kama'āina out there! – Write in! Email! Let your voices be heard! Don't let this Buddhahead katonk woman say everything for you! What do you think? Current Hawai'i has a volcano eruption going on. Current Hawai'i is getting over the pandemic and hospitalization numbers are staying low.

I was reading through some old cards that Rinban's older brother (well, both brothers are older because Rinban is the youngest of four children). The cards and letters reminded me of my mother-in-law often saying, "You know, Kathy. In Hawai'i we do it this way..." Now, things may be different now, because she passed away 20 years ago, and she was in her eighties when she did. So, things would definitely be different, wouldn't they?

There was a sign at a well-known local restaurant we went to on one visit many years back that said something like "Make a line. Everyone like eat. Your turn soon. Mahalo." Aloha. No more need be said, right? What happened to our crazy world so that now, we think that in fighting for equality, we need to be more specific, more detailed, more discriminatory. Yes, discrimination works both ways. We discriminate about what we like and don't like, and others discriminatingly figure out what they like and why. But everybody like eat. And if they don't and they are standing in line at a restaurant, something is wrong, and they need help. I hope this attitude and understanding hasn't changed.

That restaurant was a 'hang-out/hang-loose' sort of place for chefs in Waikiki after their work was done. It was known for really good food ... if you could get in. And yeah, it was local food made by local people. It closed, we heard, a few years ago. The 'old chefs' were tired and costs were going up. Things change, they do. But some things need to be passed along so that the next big change will be better for everyone, not worse. So that the big changes will be of value to the earth, to everything on the earth. It's not too much. It's big things, a little bit at a time and we can do it because we can do it all together.

Keiro Kai is a celebration to honor our elders for their contributions, wisdom and strength as well as expressing our appreciation for the life lessons they've passed along through the generations. It is their legacy that strengthens our community.

Honoring those born in 1941 or earlier, this year's Keiro Kai at Home celebration will be held on Saturday, November 20, 2021 with Honorees receiving a delivered bountiful healthy choice gift bag followed by an online presentation including photos of all our Honorees.

For Honorees registering for Keiro Kai, please also consider sending in recent or favorite photos to share with Betsuin friends and family. We all miss the time we usually spend together at the church and this is a nice way to share our lives. Last year many Honorees sent in family event photos, photos of activities that are keeping them busy and fun photos that show off their personalities.

Photos for the online presentation can be emailed to sjbc@sjbetsuin.org or via mail to the church office at 640 N. Fifth Street, San Jose, CA 95112. If you are not sure about how to send in electronic files, of course you can ask your family or friends for help. We will try to return all mailed-in printed photographs but electronic files are preferred.

In an effort to support our local community, this year's Keiro Kai Honoree gift includes items from local growers, merchants, artists and crafters. This is a gift you won't want to miss! Register by November 6 - fill out and submit the Keiro Kai at Home form included in this newsletter.

Oseibo

By Alvin Hironaga

As the end of 2021 approaches, it is time again to consider oseibo. Oseibo are year-end gifts, which are given in Japan and also practiced at some temples here in the United States. Oseibo are gifts given to people as a demonstration of our appreciation for their help during the past year. As you reflect upon the past year, think about what is really important to you and who has assisted you along the way, and you may want to give them a gift or monetary donation. An oseibo is a direct reflection of what we consider important in our lives, as we realize that true happiness comes from dana or the selfless act of giving. You are free to show your appreciation toward our Betsuin ministers, Minister Assistants and office staff in this traditional manner by giving your gift directly to the individual as some of you have been doing for years, or by sending your check to the Betsuin Oseibo Committee along with the Oseibo letter form included in this issue. The form allows you to designate the recipient(s) of your gift and also specify whether you wish to remain anonymous. The Betsuin finance committee advises that funds distributed to employees by the Betsuin will be subject to the appropriate taxes. The Oseibo committee will acknowledge all donations to the Oseibo Fund. Additional forms will be available at the Betsuin office. Your forms and checks need to be received at the Betsuin office by Sunday, December 12 to be included in this end-of-the-year distribution.

Min'na no Mura - A Village for Everyone

By: Elaine Jones

Min'na no Mura - A Village for Everyone, held its second event virtually on Saturday, October 16, entitled "Coming Out, Coming Home," which included the Okaeri produced video along with a discussion. The video focused on 4 Nikkei, all over the age of 60, and their coming out stories.

After the video, the discussion points included:

- The post-WWII upbringing of Nikkei families, including the sentiment, "Do not bring shame to the family," which was ingrained in many households. This one fact in itself was (and still is?) the reason so many Nikkei individuals stay 'in the closet' and are not able to be their authentic selves in public for a good portion of their lifetimes, if they were able to 'come out' at all.
- 2. Marsha Aizumi gave a parent's viewpoint, that for individuals who have/intend to come out, is to be patient with your family, for their experience with you is a coming out process, too. I know from personal experience, that this is very true. Even though we shouldn't put weight on what others think of us, we tend to have those thoughts control us, on how people will judge us. When a person close to you, such a family member or personal friend, comes out, I believe they are seeking support and a reassurance of your love, even though they may not ask this directly from you.
- Coming Out is just not only the sexual aspect, but is the 'whole person' aspect of who he/she/they are: physical health and appearance, mental health of the individual, and the societal expectations and acceptance of family, friends, and work colleagues. Anti-LGBTQ+ legislation across our nation has a deeply personal affect on the LGBTQ+ community.
- 4. "Come as you are," a Buddhist teaching that has been spoken to us many times by Rinban Sakamoto.

The event was well attended by a diverse group of individuals representing the LGBTQ+ community and allies, and those who were interested in learning more about the experiences of the LGBTQ+. Thanks to all who attended! Our special guests were Marsha Aizumi of Okaeri, Gabrielle Antolovich of the Billy DeFrank LGBTQ+ Community Center of San Jose, and Ronnel Corre of the South Bay Queer & Asian Organization. All of our special guests spoke about their organizations and their support services. Rinban Sakamoto also gave a short message on how we can be a more inclusive sangha here at the Betsuin; learning of the LGBTQ+ experience is a good start!

I'd also like to thank the San Jose Betsuin for their support to make this event happen. Rinban Sakamoto, Rev. Mikame, President Steve Onishi and VP of Programs Mas Nishimura, were instrumental in moving this program forward. To Randy Suzuki, Deborah Aso, and the office staff, much appreciation for providing the administrative support for us.

Thank you all for your interest!

OBON@HOME - MŌ ICHIDO 'IN MEMORY OF' GIVING

Mō ichido (Once again), thank you to everyone for your mindfulness and generosity as we celebrated Obon and honored those that came before us and who continue to play an important role in our lives. Our community once again came together and provided the means to ensure the well-being of the Betsuin. Thank you!

As of the end of September, we have raised over $125,000 from more than 300 families, friends and organizations towards the temple's General Fund budget which is essential to the daily operations of our temple and the services offered to the community by the Betsuin. Also, we received so many wonderful dedications/messages included with your donations...so while it's difficult to intertwine the realities of funding with Obon, your messages expressed so much of what the spirit of Obon is meant to be.

Below are all donations (chronological) along with each donor's message(s). Please take a moment to read through these special memories and sentiments of our families and friends, and all that we cherish about the our annual Obon Festival! Thank you for helping to make this campaign a successful and meaningful effort.

MANY THANKS TO EVERYONE!

Thank you for sharing your sentiments and for your generous support!
